

Odyssey XXX personal best

- A catch report by Kyle Morris

On Tuesday night I did a quick overnighter and little did I know it would be a night to remember.

I arrived at my Cambridgeshire syndicate roughly about 3.30pm and with it being so hot recently I knew I wouldn't get a bite on the bottom until it got dark. On my left hand rod I had a 15mm Odyssey xxx freezer bottom bait with a pineapple pop up fished snowman style. The middle had a 15mm Odyssey bottom bait just on its own and the right hand rod was fished the same as the left hand rod, just with a different flavour pop up; in this case it was a white pop up. At about 7.30pm I decided to put 7 or 8 big spodfulls over my middle rod with the base of the spod mix being Intense Hemp with crushed and whole Odyssey XXX boilies and just a handful of ground bait to stiffen it up so I wouldn't lose any of it out the back of the spod.

The bite came on my middle rod about 10.00pm. I had to run out my bivvy and must have been playing it for half an hour. I could tell by the sheer power of it that it was a decent fish. After a hectic battle I had her in the net and was overjoyed as she tipped the scales all the way round to 31lb 2oz! Not just an amazing looking fish but also a new common PB.
